Notification

LD/N/44/67

The following rules for the enrolment of Advocates framed by the court of the Judicial Commissioner under section 20 of the Goa, Daman and Diu (Judicial Commissioner's Court) Regulation, 1963 are hereby published for general information.

M. S. Borkar, Under Secretary.

Panaji, 16th August, 1967.

In exercise of the powers conferred under section 14 read with section 20 of the Goa, Daman and Diu (Judicial Commissioner's Court) Regulation, 1963, the Court of the Judicial Commissioner with the approval of the Administrator is pleased to make the following rules to admit proper persons to be advocates in any court in Goa, Daman and Diu.

Proper persons who may be enrolled or admitted as Advocates

1. A person shall be qualified to be enrolled or admitted as an advocate in any court in Goa, Daman and Diu, if he fulfils the following conditions, namely:—

(a) He is a citizen of India.

(b) He has completed the age of 21 years.

(c) He has obtained a degree in law:—

1. from any university in the territory of India, or

2. before the 15th of August, 1947, from any University in any area which was comprised before that date within India as defined by the Government of India Act, 1935.

(d) He has undergone a course of training in law under an advocate of 10 years' standing and has passed an examination prescribed by any State Bar Council in India constituted under section 3 of the Advocates Act 1961. For the purpose of computing 10 years standing of an Advocate, his standing as a Pleader, Vakil or an Attorney shall be taken into account.

Provided that this clause shall not apply to:

I. a person who has obtained a degree in law from any University in India on the results of an examination held before the 31st day of March, 1964 or such other later date as may be prescribed by a rule under the Advocates Act 1961, or a Barrister who, having qualified after that date, has received such practical training in law as may be recognised in this behalf by the Bar Council of India, constituted under section 4 of the Advocates Act 1961;

II. any person who has for at least two years held a judicial office in the territory of India or is or has been a member of the Central Legal Service;

III. any person who has for at least two years held a judicial office in any area which was comprised before the 15th day of August, 1947 within India as defined in the Government of India Act, 1935, or has been an advocate of any High Court in any such area;

IV. any person who has practised before any High Court and who has discontinued practice by reason of his taking up employment under the Government, a local authority or any other person; and

V. any other class of persons who by reason of their legal training or experience are declared by the Bar Council of India constituted under section 4 of the Advocates Act 1961 to be exempted from the provisions of this Clause.

Explanation:— For the purpose of Rule I, a person shall be deemed to have obtained a degree in law from a University in India on the date on which the results of the examination for that degree are published by the University on its notice board or otherwise declaring him to have passed that examination—

(e) He fulfils such other conditions as may be specified in the rules made by the court of the Judicial Commissioner Goa, Daman and Diu.

(f) He has paid an enrolment fee of Rs. 250/- to the court of the Judicial Commissioner, Goa, Daman and Diu.

II. Notwithstanding anything contained in Rule I, a Vakil, or a Pleader who is a law graduate or an advocate the roll of any State Bar Council in India or on the roll of any High Court in India may be admitted as an advocate on the roll of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner if he makes an application for such admission with the following accompaniments and has paid an admission fee of Rs. 25/- to the Court of Judicial Commissioner, Goa, Daman and Diu. The accompaniments for an application for such admission shall be:

- (a) a true copy of the Sanad.
- (b) an affidavit that his name is still on the roll of any State Bar Council or any High Court of India.
- (c) a declaration and an undertaking in form (a) appended to these rules.

III. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules, the court of the Judicial Commissioner may permit any Barrister in-law practising as a lawyer in any High Court or Supreme Court of any country other than India, not enrolled as an advocate under these rules, to appear before it in any particular case or class of cases on an application made accompanied by an admission fee of Rs. 100/- to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner Goa, Daman and Diu.

IV. The Court of Judicial Commissioner for reasons to be recorded may refuse to admit any proper person as an Advocate in any Court, in Goa, Daman and Diu.
